

March 15, 2026

Dear Mr. Thomas Velasco,

This letter is your Explanation of Benefits for claim number CLM-2026-847392 processed by Harbor Point Mutual. We are writing to confirm the details of your recent cardiology services and how your benefits were applied.

On March 9, 2026, you visited Dr. Samuel Osei for a cardiology consultation. Dr. Osei evaluated your cardiac health and reviewed your medical history during this office visit. The billed amount for this consultation was $450.00. Our allowable amount for this service is $375.00, which reflects our contracted rate with the provider. Harbor Point Mutual paid $262.50 toward this service, leaving you responsible for $112.50 in coinsurance (30 percent of the allowable amount).

Two days later, on March 11, 2026, an echocardiogram was performed at the same facility under Dr. Osei's order. This diagnostic test provides a detailed ultrasound image of your heart and chambers. The provider billed $1,200.00 for the echocardiogram. The allowable amount for this diagnostic service is $900.00. Harbor Point Mutual paid $630.00, and your coinsurance responsibility is $270.00 (30 percent of the allowable amount).

In summary, for claim number CLM-2026-847392, Harbor Point Mutual paid a total of $892.50 in benefits. Your total member responsibility is $382.50. The difference between billed and allowable amounts ($375.00 in total) is written off by the provider and is not your obligation.
